DETAILED ACTION

Summary

On December 19, 2005, an Office Action was sent to the Applicant rejecting claims 1-20. On June 19, 2006, the Applicant responded with arguments.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Freeman US 2002/0059137 in view of Tengel (5,940,812) and Broadbent (2005/0197953).

Freeman discloses and Broadbent teaches the invention substantially as claimed, as set forth in the previous Office Action. Freeman does not disclose the mortgage application approval data entered into the end user device by a borrower. Tengel teaches a method and corresponding system for on-line mortgage approval comprising the mortgage application approval data entered into the end user device by a borrower (col.8, line 20 to col.9, line 30). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the mortgage application approval data entered into the end user device by a borrower, as taught into the invention disclosed by Freeman, to allow the user the alternative method of electronically filling in applications to simplify the application process.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion
